

Police Buggy

The Manawatu Historic Vehicle Collection Trust are delighted that the Police Museum has generously agreed to display their "gold" buggy at The Coach House Museum while their premises are being refurbished.

This wagon is typical of the kind of wagon used to transport gold from Kyeburn to Dunedin during the Otago gold rush.

The buggy was restored in 1986 for the Police Centenary by the Friends of the Police Museum, and will remain on display at the Coach House Museum for five years.
